- 2.3. 1780 Aug 28. Camden. Letter from "Cornwallis" to "Major Wemy's, 63d Regt" The letter enclosed by Wemyss in his letter to the Chancellor of the Exchequer. "I should advise your sweeping the country entirely from Kingstree Bridge to Pedee, and returning by the Cheraws. I would have you disarm in the most rigid manner all persons who cannot be depended on, & punish the concealment of arms & amunition [sic] with a total demolition of the Plantation; all those who were enrolled voluntarily in Col. Mills's Militia or by Lt. Col. Gaillard, and afterwards joined the rebels, must be instantly hanged up, unless you should seize a very great number. in which case you will please to select the properest objects of mercy. All who have either submitted themselves or have lived quietly at their plantations in an apparent acquiescence to the Kings Government, & have since joined in this second revolt must have their property entirely taken from them or destroyed, & themselves be taken as prisoners of war ... [T]ake care to procure constant intelligence, especially towards Anson County"

"I cannot send rum with you without disgusting the militia, refugees, &c, but you may promise your men three days double allowance when they get to Camden."

Endorsed by Wemyss on the last page:

"Only One suffered Death on this disagreeable duty. W. [Signature] This man was a native of Great Britain, and had by his cruelties and acts of oppression rendered himself particularly obnoxious. The day before he was taken he had fired at an Officer of militia under my Command and robbed him."
