1. 1664, Jan. 7. Articles of Agreement between the Lords Proprietors and William Yeamans, agent to John Yeamans and other adventurers from Barbadoes concerning the settlement of Carolina. Lds. Proprietors promise to send arms and ammunition for a fort to be built at Port Royal; settle terms for land grants, quit rents, etc. Many names involved. X80.1599.1
2. N.D. but probably related to above. Another agreement between the Lords Proprietors and the adventurers of the island of Barbadoes concerning the settling of the "Countyes of Clarendine, The County of Albemarle and the County of [blank]." This lengthy document deals with the form of government: governors' powers and duties, ditto for the Council, Secretary, Surveyor General, etc. Also with the Assembly's powers, how elected, how lands were to be granted and laid out, etc. X80.1600.1-3
3. 1670, Nov. 3. Indenture between Ashley and Thomas Stringer concerning Ashley's one-eighth part of Carolina as a Ld. proprietor. Ashley sells his interest in Carolina to Stringer with many conditions attached: Stringer in essence becomes Ashley's agent in Carolina, managing the profits, but Ashley retained governing rights, and rights to the major portion of profits. X80.1601.1
4. 1674, 6 May. Indenture made between the Lords Proprietors concerning the provisioning and support of Carolina until the colony was firmly established. Appoint Peter Jones as their treasurer to handle the sumes of £100 and £700 deposited yearly by the Lds. Proprietors for the support of the colony. [17 years] Any Proprietor not putting in his share of these costs lost his right to profits and a voice in governing the colony until he paid up the difference with interest. X80.1602.1

1-7 1775, 7 April - 18 Sept. Precis of correspondence between Governor Martin and Lord Dartmouth on the affairs of North Carolina.

- (1) Dispatch of 7 Apr. Martin describes Assembly resolving itself into a convention and his proclamation against such procedures.
- (2) Dispatch of 20 Apr. Assembly censures the Governor and resolves to levy taxes upon their own authority. Martin gives opinion that Britain should use force to extinguish such action.
- (3) Dispatch of 20 Apr. The Western settlements appear to remain loyal. Martin has dismounted the cannon behind his house to prevent rebels seizing them. A mob at New Bern surrounded his house demanding the cannon be remounted, but Martin dispersed them. He has, however, removed to the fort to be under protection of the cruizer, "Man of War."
- (4) Dispatch of 20 Apr. Martin is confident that with aid he can hold North Carolina and restore it to loyalty.
- (5) Dispatch of 20 Apr. Martin suffers indignities to his station. Mr. John Ash has forced people of Wilmington to sign a rebel oath; recruits from South Carolina are in North Carolina but Martin has frustrated them. He believes Charleston could be easily taken.
- (6) Dispatch of 10 July. Sent from sloop off Ft. Johnston. The fort has been set afire by rebels. Dartmouth on 3 May had ordered pardon for rebels of 1770 to assure their loyalty. Martin has complied.
- (7) Dispatch of 30 July. Martin has been forced to send dispatches by Schaw. Gage is to forward arms to North Carolina.
