

Name: _____

Date: _____ Class: _____

ACTIVITY: Reactions to the Edenton Resolves

There is no record of how anyone from North Carolina reacted to the Edenton Resolves. What do you think friends, family members, neighbors, and local merchants might have thought? King George III? Choose several positions & write possible responses below. Label who's speaking in the box.

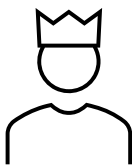

Name: _____ ANSWER KEY (responses will vary)

Date: _____ Class: _____

ACTIVITY: Reactions to the Edenton Resolves

There is no record of how anyone from North Carolina reacted to the Edenton Resolves. What do you think friends, family members, neighbors, and local merchants might have thought? King George III? Choose several positions & write possible responses below. Label who's speaking in the box.

King
George III

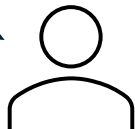

I can't believe the boldness of those women! Someone needs to teach them a lesson! Who are they to try to tell us what to do? If they want to drink tea, they can pay the tax – or they can go without. Let's see how they like that!

I'm proud of my wife! This is just the spirit we need if we're going to be heard by Parliament – we can't back down. I'm glad that she's willing to forego the comfort of tea for the sake of our principles

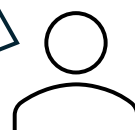

Husband

That Penelope Barker has gone too far this time! Maybe her grief has addled her head. Who is she to send a petition to Parliament? I'm going to steer clear of her – I wouldn't want the women in my family to start acting like she is. This is embarrassing.

Neighbor

I don't know what to think about the petition these women sent to the King! Mrs. Barker understands the shipping business so she knows this is going to hurt us, but if we can get Parliament to get rid of these tyrannical taxes, maybe it'll be worth it in the long run. I just don't know...

Merchant