7 – 14 Declaration of Service to Accompany U.S. Pension Applications

Negative photostats from county court minutes and xerox copies from county miscellaneous papers of declarations of service by Revolutionary War veterans intending to apply for pensions, under various acts of the U.S. Congress. The originals from which these copies were made were searched by Betty Camin.

Arrangement is alphabetical by the name of the veteran. The 86 files marked with an asterisk(*) in the following list represent declarations for which no files exist, presumably in the Revolutionary War Pension Applications at the National Archives, Washington, D.C.

List prepared by Betty Camin (as a volunteer service to the North Carolina State Archives)

Loyalist Records

The attached pages are part of a report of Loyalists' records located in the Archives by Dr. Robert Lambert, Department of History, Clemson University, as part of a national survey of similar materials in repositories throughout the country, conducted in 1970-1971 by the Program for Loyalist Studies and Publications, under the sponsorship of the American Antiquarian Society, City University of New York, University of London, and University of New Brunswick, with headquarters at the Graduate Center, 33 West 42nd Street, New York, New York 10036.

PRIVATE COLLECTIONS

Loyalist Materials

- PC 123.10 James Cary Papers, 1777-1805 (a part of the Thomas Pittman Papers). Letterbook, 1782-1788, of Cary, South Carolina Loyalist planter and militia colonel; also loose letters, land papers, and other writing related to Cary's claim for compensation from the Crown and to his travel and residence in Jamaica, Nova Scotia and England after the Revolution.
- PC 40.1 Hayes Collection, 1748-1806. Particularly in the correspondence of Samuel Johnston, Joseph Hewes, and others, 1775-1776, is reflected their fears of the role which former Regulators might play if armed conflict broke out between Britain and her colonies.
- PC 67.3 Correspondence of James Iredell, Sr., 1783-1785, in Charles E. Johnston Collection. Concerns family matters primarily, but there are scattered references to efforts by Iredell and others to mitigate effects of the North Carolina confiscation laws on former loyalists.
- PC 71.1 James Murray Papers, 1768-1786. Typed copies (originals in Massachusetts Historical Society) of Letters of Murray, longtime North Carolina provincial office holder and resident, who moved to Boston and on its evacuation in 1776 to Halifax, Nova Scotia. Primarily family letters.

MILITARY COLLECTION
V. WAR OF THE REVOLUTION

Loyalist Records

- PC 1097.1      Griffith Rutherford Miscellaneous. Letter of Rutherford to James Kerr, a Cape Fear Loyalist, July 2, 1783, refusing to help restore the latter's property after the Revolution. Typed copy of original in A013, p. 113, Public Record Office, London.
- PC 57.1      Fanning-McCulloh Papers, 1752-1786. Correspondence of Henry Eustace McCulloh and Edmund Fanning, former North Carolinians who left the province in the 1760's. Primarily pre-war with a few post-war letters.
- PC69.1; PC 196      Horatio Gates Letterbook, July 21, 1780-October 7, 1781. There are scattered references to Tories in these microfilm copies and typescripts of originals in the new York Public Library.
- PC 490.1      Edmund Fanning will made before he left for New York in 1775.

MISCELLANEOUS COLLECTION

Series I. Volume, 1775-1778, contains scattered references to Loyalists. Of marginal importance.

Box 4--British and Loyalist Papers, 1776-1783.

Contains a "British Orderly Book, 1780-1781." Published in the North Carolina Historical Review, IX (1932).

[This British Orderly Book was found among the papers of William Hooper, a signer of the Declaration of Independence from North Carolina. It was given to Governor David L. Swain for the North Carolina Historical Society's collection at the University of North Carolina by Hooper's grandson, William Hooper, a faculty member at the University. Around 1868, Mrs. Swain removed some of her late husband's papers from the University. The Orderly Book was among those papers. It, along with several other significant historical items, came to the North Carolina Historical Commission (now the NC Division of Historical Resources) through Judge Walter Clark, an executor of Mrs. Swain's estate during biennium 1914-1916.

Entries in the book begin on August 28, 1780. The Orderly Book appears to have belonged at a brigade under the command of Maj. Gen. Alexander Leslie, attached to General Clinton's headquarters in New York. In October of 1780, the brigade was sent to Hampton Roads, Virginia. In November, the brigade was ordered by Lord Cornwallis to proceed to Charleston and then march to join him at Camden. Under Lord Cornwallis, General Leslie was given other duties, and the brigade was commanded by Brigadier General O'Hara. The brigade joined Lord Cornwallis several days after the battle of Cowpens and took part in what has become known as the "race to the Dan." In March of 1781, the brigade took part in the battle of Guilford Court House. The last entry in the book was made in a camp near Deep River on March 20, 1781.

The British orderly book was edited for publication by Dr. Albert Ray Newsome and is published with an introduction by Dr. Newsome in the North Carolina Historical Review, IX (1932), in four parts, Nos. 1,2,3 and 4.]

A transcript of "Observations of the War in Carolina" by Col. Robert Gray, paymaster of Loyalist militia in Charleston. Copied from original in Chalmers Mss., New York Public Library.

Discharge to Andrew Sickner in Nova Scotia, September 13, 1783, from Lt. Col. John Hamilton's North Carolina Regiment.

Box 5--Miscellaneous Papers, 1776-1789. Deposition on recruiting of Loyalists in Wilkes County, Ga., by a Colonel Boyd, probably the same who was killed leading a party of Tories in the Battle of Kettle Creek, in Wilkes County, February 4, 1779.
